Planar functions and commutative semifields: A status report and beyond

Robert Coulter

The aim of this talk is to first give an overview of where the classification of planar functions stands. Expanding on their connection with projective planes, we will then look at the situation with commutative semifields. This leads to an examination of the strong isotopy problem, and other things...